

Happy Mother's Day

I'm here to tell my story about an Outstanding, Fantastic, and Enduring mother of mine Mrs. Shirley Nosakhare-Fountain. When I was born my mother took a turn for the worst losing my father when I was only three months. As a Black strong woman she has raised me providing the Mother and Father role into the woman who I am today. Yes over the years I have given my mom a run for her money as they will say but, nothing beats a Backbone I have had all my life. Someone so easy going, appreciative, loving, never asks for anything is known as my mother. No matter how old I get no matter what we have been through she is phenomenal. With our adventures through our lifetime I have never faced a woman so strong in my life. God always lead me in the right direction in carrying out her professionalism, her smile, putting everyone one else first and loving jean my mom has passed on. I can continue on and on about the mother I have but I just wanted the world to know that on this day, "Mother's Day" I have the best mom a person can ask for. Love you until and I want you to know that I'm blessed because of you!

Your loving daughter Nafeesah Nosakhare
