

THE PARLIAMENTARY ELECTION ACT, 1978
(Section 8(3))

The Parliamentary Register which is effective as of the 15th June, 2013 has been published and may be inspected at all post offices, police stations, at the Hamilton Library and at the office of the Parliamentary Registrar, Valerie T. Scott Building, and 60 Reid Street, Hamilton.

Please examine the register carefully for the following reasons:-

1. If your name was on the 2012/13 Parliamentary Register and you are living at the same address, then under the provisions of the Parliamentary Election Amendment Act, 1999 that introduced continuous registration, your name should be listed in the register at the same address and in the same constituency.
2. If your name is listed in the Parliamentary Register at a former address or under a former name, you must inform the Parliamentary Registrar at once by completing a Form 2 (blue) and deliver it to him or send it to him in one of the self-addressed envelopes.
3. If your name was on the 2012/13 Parliamentary Register and you registered a change of name or address with the Parliamentary Registrar during the period 1st June, 2012 through to 31st May, 2013, your name should now appear in the Parliamentary Register under your new name or at your new address.
4. If your name was not on the 2012/13 Parliamentary Register and you registered during the period 1st June, 2012 through to 14th June, 2013, your name should now appear in the constituency in which you live.
5. If you object to the entry of the name and/or address of any person in the Parliamentary Register, you may inform the Parliamentary Registrar of your objection, no later than 15th July, 2013. The grounds for such objection must be in writing and accompanied by a deposit of five dollars ($5). If the grounds for objection are established, the Registrar will refund the five dollars to you, but if the grounds are not established, he will pay the sum to the person affected by the objection (Section 17).
6. If your name has been irregularly omitted from the register or the particulars relating to your name in the register are incomplete or inaccurate or both, you may deliver a written statement to the Parliamentary Registrar outlining your grounds of objection. The statement must be accompanied by a deposit of five dollars ($5) and delivered no later than 15th July, 2013 to the Parliamentary Registrar. If the grounds of objection are established, the Registrar will rectify the register accordingly and return the five dollars to you, but if the grounds are not established, he will deposit the sum into the Consolidated Fund (Section 18).

You are reminded that if you are eligible to register but your name is not on the Parliamentary Register, you may register at any time during the year. You will not have to register again. Your name will be in the next publication of the register.
