

Senior Attorney – Insolvency and Dispute Resolution

Kevin Taylor invites applications from insolvency litigation specialists to assist in developing and growing a global high end insolvency and dispute resolution team.

This position requires the candidate to be technically savvy, possess strong leadership and management skills as well as a strong understanding of managing a legal practice. Key responsibilities include assisting with building a new practice by acquiring new clients and providing expert knowledge to help clients explore every avenue in distressed situations from re-financings, restructurings and turnarounds to formal insolvency.

Minimum qualifications required:

- Lawyer with at least 8 years of international litigation and insolvency experience, particularly advocacy experience with contentious and non-contentious experience in advising companies and other entities, creditors and insolvency practitioners on a range of cross-jurisdictional corporate recovery and insolvency issues
- Proven track record of taking a lead role in representing diverse parties, understanding a range of perspectives, devising creative solutions and project managing distressed situations
- Strong references to verify success in practice management, business development, marketing, and relationship management
