

Senior IT Developer

Athene Holding Ltd., a leading Bermuda-based life and annuity reinsurance company, seeks a Senior IT Developer in the IT Department, who can build and maintain effective information software applications that assist the company in minimizing administrative costs and maximizing information flow.

Responsibilities:

- Provides accurate estimates for solutions; required to be an expert in one application or have breadth across multiple applications;
- Resolves complex software issues across multiple software applications;
- Independently documents own code and produces technical design documentation;
- Designs, codes, and tests all sizes of application solutions independently or as part of a team;
- Effectively communicates and documents, the application architecture utilizing industry standards as part of a team;
- Cascades expectations aligned to department goals;
- Communicates and presents to the team, management, and stakeholders;
- Ensures team adherence to internal policies and procedures (standards, controls and metrics);
- Demonstrates understanding of various departments within organization and IT utilization of each;
- Creates and maintains an effective working relationship between users and IT; and
- Mentors less experienced team members on application design and development.

Credentials and Experience

- Bachelor's degree in Information Technology, Computer Science or equivalent work experience;
- 5+ years of application development experience, specifically with a focus on database design, complex T-SQL, and SSIS packages, using SQL Server 2012 or higher;
- Experience developing applications in Python will be well regarded;
- Strong knowledge of large-scale internal software applications or related technologies;
- Experience with SSDT and source control systems (ideally Git);
- Proficient in Project Management and SDLC processes;
- Ability to make decisions, establish priorities, and work effectively on multiple initiatives concurrently;
- A strong sense of teamwork and ability to both lead and execute programs;
- Ability to function as a strategic partner within a team; and
- Experience in the insurance services industry, with an actuarial, finance, and reinsurance focus would be a plus.

Interested applicants should email their resumes, including a cover letter and specifying their status, to HRBDA@athene.bm (reference: SnrITDev). All resumes will be handled in complete confidence.

Closing date for applications: January 18, 2019.

Athene Bermuda Employee Co. Ltd. | 96 Pitts Bay Road | Pembroke HM 08 | Bermuda
Tel: 441 279 8400

No phone enquiries please