

INVESTMENT INTERN

Bermuda Investment Advisory Services Limited (BIAS) is looking for a Bermudian candidate to train in the investment industry. The engagement is for a year, subject to completion of the first level of the Canadian Securities Course during the five-month probationary period and the second level within ten-months of employment. Permanent employment is likely to be granted subject to completion of the second level of the Canadian Securities Course, but this must be subject to employee engagement and demonstrated interest in the portfolio management process. This is a paid internship.

Learning Opportunity:

The successful applicant will have a bird's eye view of the portfolio management process by participating in various research and analytic projects with the guidance of the portfolio managers. Compliance and Client Service is always an important process of portfolio management; so the successful applicant will be required to assist portfolio managers by collecting documents and recording client instructions in the client management system.

Minimum requirements include: -

- A degree in finance, economics, or mathematics from a reputable university
- Enjoyment of fact finding and research.
- Strong spread sheet and PowerPoint skills for quantitative analysis and presentation purposes
- Good people skills and a professional decorum.
- B-average academic record or better.
- Determination to complete the Canadian Securities Course within 10 months.

We believe that the investment industry is truly the most fascinating of lifetime careers because nothing stays the same and you are constantly learning.
