Operational Risk Analyst

The Argus Group is seeking a motivated individual to assist the Head of Risk and Compliance in developing and documenting policies and procedures to mitigate all material risks. The role will require a self-starter to handle extensive data collection, trends analysis and reporting of operational risk and compliance matters to the Executives, the Risk Management Committee, the Audit Committee, the Board of Directors and to the various Regulatory Authorities.

Core responsibilities include:

- Identifying, assessing, tracking and reporting of operational risk losses and any of the "near-miss" incidents
- Assisting the business units in the documentation of business processes, policies and procedures
- Coordinating the business continuity planning (BCP) exercises
- Create and/or analyze risk metrics and translate into action plans that anticipate and mitigate risk exposure
- Maintain operational risk assessment reports and dashboards that address operational risk assessment and controls

Qualifications and experience required:

- Minimum of seven years of professional accounting or auditing experience
- University degree in a related field (e.g. Business Administration, Accounting, Risk Management, etc.)
- Professional designation (e.g. CA, CPA, IRM Certification, etc.)
- Working knowledge of insurance markets would be an asset
- Proficiency in Microsoft Office (Word, Excel and PowerPoint)

Closing Date: Friday, June 10, 2011
